

ALLIED AERIAL DRUBBING OF ITALY PURSUED WITHOUT LET-UP AS U. S. FLYING FORTRESSES STRIKE CAPUA

Naval Base at Taranto Also Struck — Naval Bombardments Scored Against Italian Mainland — Railway and Bridges Near Locri Blasted by British Warships

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The Allied aerial drubbing of Southern Italy was pursued without let-up today, American Flying Fortresses attacking the Capua airfield and marauders hitting nearby Grazzanise.

(A communique of the Italian high command said that Allied planes also had battered the naval base of Taranto, under the arch of the Italian boot.)

Meanwhile new naval bombardments were scored against the Italian mainland. British warships blasted a railway and bridges near Locri, under the toe of the boot, while a cruiser hit other targets along the Calabrian coast.

In the raid on Capua, at least 12 of an estimated 45 to 50 enemy intercepting craft were knocked out, while over Grazzanise, at least three of 15 enemy fighters were shot down. Both targets were well covered with high explosives.

In a previous night raid, British bombers slammed the railroad yards at Bagnoli to keep rail traffic in the Naples area disrupted.

Harry J. Meeker Dies; Is Stricken Suddenly

Stricken while seated at a table in the Elks Home, playing cards, last evening, Harry J. Meeker, died instantly, the victim of chronic myocarditis.

Mr. Meeker, aged 74, had made his home in Bristol for many years. He was associated with J. Elmer Harvison in the restaurant and cafe business on Farragut avenue.

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANNED BY SCRIBES

"Is your mind your own? Think it over, the next time you are waiting for your train or for your tomatoes to come to a boil. Who makes up your mind for you? Why do you believe as you do?" This was the opening challenge of Mrs. Marshall Cole in her analysis of propaganda as presented at the Solobry-Buckingham-New Hope League of Women Voters held on Monday in the New Hope Art Gallery.

"Public opinion is often, if not usually, the result of the efforts of opposed propaganda groups, which seek to influence the public in their favor by various well recognized devices," declared Mrs. Cole.

"We give you briefly the recognized formula: Name calling, giving an idea or person a bad label, is used to make us reject and condemn it without examining the evidence. Glittering generalities associate a person, group or idea with a 'virtue word,' and by appeal to favorable emotions and attitudes tend to induce favorable action. Such phrases are 'a full dinner pail,' 'the American way' or 'back to normalcy.'"

A tractor belonging to Frank Texter, Perkashie R. D., caught fire, Tuesday, and was damaged to the extent of about $50. The tractor was being started and backfired, causing the fire.

Firemen were called to the fire, which was on the farm of a neighbor of Mr. Texter on the road leading from Dublin to the Elephant Hotel.

However, the fire was pretty well under control when they arrived. Damage was confined to the wiring and the engine.

Water in the canal is quite low, the result of lack of rainfall over a lengthy period of time.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Adjourning Politics

Washington, Aug. 26. Mr. James F. Byrnes, chief aide to the President, recently made a public appeal for an adjournment of politics until the election next year. This, it was piously argued, would enable us to concentrate on winning the war. Administration publicists and propagandists promptly endorsed this not very original suggestion, but it naturally received its most enthusiastic commendation from the more active and important of the Administration politicians.

IT IS EASY to understand why. Nothing possibly could suit their book better. If Mr. Byrnes' noble notion should be adopted, the fourth-term nomination and election would be a walkover. If politics should be "relegated to the rear" or kept under cover for the next twelve months or so there would really be no fight, no campaign and the election would become a farce. No one knows this better than the astute and likable Mr. Byrnes, who, despite his high character and ability, nevertheless, is primarily a politician, for many years steeped in politics clear up to his alabaster brow.

A SIGNIFICANT indication of just how much Mr. Byrnes' appeal means to his own side was given in the recent unsought intrusion of General and Chairman of the Democratic National Committee into the New York situation. Though he had nothing whatever to do with the New York affair, Mr. Walker appeared at Albany last week and rallied in conference Mr. Michael Kennedy, leader of Tammany Hall; Mr. Eddie Flynn, leader of the Bronx; Mr. Frank Kelly, leader of Brooklyn, and others in an effort to see that the man the Democrats nominated for Lieutenant Governor was one who could be depended upon not to make it more

Son of Morrisville Couple is Decorated

NAVAL TRAINING STATION, Sampson, N. Y., Aug. 27.—John Toth, motor machinist's mate first class, who served on the aircraft carrier Wasp all through her short but glorious career, was decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart by Captain W. B. Coleman, USN, Sampson's executive officer. The decoration, awarded to men wounded in combat action, was pinned on Toth's breast at a regimental review.

Toth, who is on duty in Sampson's boat repair dock, was burned fighting fire on the Wasp, and stayed behind to help other burned and wounded men over the side before he slid down from the deck of the doomed carrier. He was picked up by a lifeboat after 3½ hours in the water.

Toth, born in Skysville, Pa., July 2, 1919, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Toth, graduated from Morrisville, Pa., high school, and then entered the Civilian Conservation Corps. He enlisted in the Navy at Philadelphia February 13, 1940, and, after training at Newport, was assigned to the Wasp at Boston in April, 1940, when the carrier was commissioned.

Toth laconically relates: "The men were getting off fast down the ropes. I helped some of the burned guys over the side. Then I slid down myself." Toth himself had been burned when a bomb exploded on a gasoline tank blow up (he couldn't tell which) on the hangar deck where he was fighting fire.

Toth lives with his wife, June Dickerman Toth, at Gorham, N. Y., near Sampson. His parents live at 254 Prospect Ave., Morrisville, Pa., with three sons and two daughters. Another son, Corp. Stephen Toth, is at an army base at Harrison, Miss.

Two other cases were reported, but were held under abeyance. One was an alleged misdemeanor, and the other involved mileage figures.

One Man's Opinion By Walter Klerman (I. N. S. Staff Writer)

Well, if the suggestion is in order... how about Joe Davies leaping off on another mission to Moscow?

There is something cooking and from here we can't tell whether it's good or bad.

But Mr. Davies should know.

He got a book and movie out of his first trip, a few more notes out of his second and a third trip ought to be as productive as all get out.

The trouble with his second trip was that he got back too soon.

Litvinoff still was Ambassador to Washington and everything was rosey.

Now we're not sure whether it's rosey or just plain red.

But Stalin still is calling the Nazis "Fascist scoundrels."

That sounds all right from here.

Overseas mailing of Christmas gifts should be made between the 15th of September and the 15th of October, Mr. Duffy announces.

Christmas gifts may be mailed

BUTTER IS SPREAD MUCH, MUCH THINNER

Bristol Grocers Report Cuts of 75 Per Cent in Quantity

DIVISION A PROBLEM

They're spreading it thinner! And butter is the subject.

Bristol grocers report the quantity usually received from the warehouses is cut 75 to 80 per cent. So the populace has butter on one slice of bread instead of on four.

Likewise, syrup, alone, is used on the waffles; and jelly, jam or oleomargarine take the place of butter for some purposes.

Those luncheon sandwiches, which are at times meatless, are now becoming butterless.

So a little ingenuity is being used with substitutes instead of the usual sandwich spreads.

John Wear, Saverio Alta, and A. Passanante & Sons report cuts of 75 to 80 per cent from their usual supply, which cut naturally affects all their customers.

From Phillip Reed's store comes word that the supply is way down. The chain stores are low on butter.

Some of the grocers are rationing after a fashion—selling in quantities of one-quarter and one-half pound. Some take care of their regular customers first, while others

"Troubled Waters!"

(By "The Stroller")
Bristol's telephones and the "grapevine" message service were overworked Wednesday morning and Tuesday afternoon during the contemplation of the arrival of oil on the surface of the Delaware River.

Oil from the break in the "big inch" near New Hope was slowly flowing toward Bristol, and the fact that the exact time was not known when and if it should reach here caused some problems.

Advised to draw a sufficient supply of drinking water for about two days, in case the oil might give a slightly distasteful aspect to the borough water supply, one person would telephone another, or call across the street. Some used automobiles, bicycles and "shank's mare" to reach home to draw a supply.

There are cases reported of those who did not intend taking a bath until Wednesday having full ablutions on Tuesday—just to make sure.

But thanks to tides and wind and the burning of some of the oil near Trenton, N. J., Bristol has not as yet and may not be affected by the "overflow from Texas."

BLASTING BERLIN

The burning and blasting which is being inflicted upon Berlin in the largest aerial bombardment of the war is giving the Germans a taste of war which they did not anticipate when they started the second great conflict in a quarter of a century. Not since the Prussians started on their career of militarism three-quarters of a century ago has Germany suffered catastrophic damage as a result of the wars that were hatched in Berlin.

In the last war, the Boche surrendered when armies reached the German border, and Germany was spared the desolation and destruction that were visited upon France, Belgium and a half dozen other countries. German cities escaped destruction and German civilians were secure in their homeland while the marauding Hun devastated neighboring nations.

This time the Germans planned a campaign of wholesale destruction of cities and civilians by air warfare to bring them quick victory in their newest bid for world conquest. They had things pretty much their own way for a year as they rained death and destruction upon Rotterdam, Warsaw, London and dozens of other cities in England, France and Russia, Greece, Holland and Norway.

But if the Allies made the mistake last time of not inflicting retribution upon the Hun for his slaughter and havoc, they are not making the same mistake twice. The fate of Hamburg will be the fate of Berlin and every important German city before the war continues many months. The German has enjoyed his peculiar brand of sport, now it is his turn to witness the laying waste of his homeland and to die.

The "super race" is being subjected to the only argument that it can understand. Military might can eliminate the German menace for all time if it is applied ruthlessly and results in the decimation of German lives to an enormous total. Nothing else can accomplish this end.

The blasting and burning of Berlin is the best news the civilized world has received in four years. If the German capital is obliterated from the earth, a great many Germans will be brought to the realization that Germany's days are numbered.

Announcement that 21,600 pounds of soap powder, two gross of white soap and one gross of yellow laundry soap will be needed to complete the task of cleaning the national capitol, will incline some persons to the belief that politics may be a rather dirty business after all.

The Jap broadcaster who spoke of the "surprising stubbornness" of American troops is going to be even more surprised before the war is finished.

Midwest motorists' gasoline rations have been cut to "share the misery," but in the East the average driver still gets only an eyedropper of gas a week.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

difficult for the President to control the New York delegation in the convention next year.

THIS, IN ITSELF, rather makes a joke of Mr. Byrnes' proposal, which was made as impressively as though he really expected it to be accepted. However, there still are several things that should be said and understood concerning it. In the first place, of course, it is an impossible proposition. There is no way by which politics can be adjoined any more than there is any way the election can be abandoned. The two are inseparably connected and the idea that we can run up to a month or two before a Presidential election without holding conventions and primaries and without talking, writing, thinking and playing politics is absurd. Clearly it can't be done, and just as clearly it shouldn't be done. Human nature is not built that way, and if it were, the Constitution of the country and the physical aspects of our elective system would rule it out.

IN THE SECOND PLACE it is a false assumption that politics has interfered—or threatens to interfere—with wholehearted concentration upon winning the war. Politics has not prevented the Republicans and anti-fourth-term Democrats in Congress from giving full support to every request for money and power which Mr. Roosevelt has made since Pearl Harbor. Nor has it in any way hampered the financing of the war or diluted the unity and enthusiasm with which our armed forces have been and are now supported. On the contrary, political criticism has been justifiably centered upon the mistakes of omission and commission on the home front. Without that sort of criticism the situation in Washington, had as it is, would be far worse. Without that criticism the cost in lives and money of this war would be far greater. Without that criticism, it is appalling to think of the lengths to which waste, incompetency, New Deal politics and lack of sense would have carried us.

THE WELL-KNOWN White House attitude is that all Administration criticism is political criticism or Presidential "heckling" and now it is proposed that, in the interests of the war this be abandoned. If such nonsense should be taken seriously, it would effectively gag all Roosevelt critics and put an end to all independent speaking and writing. It would mean that the Republicans would have to cease their attack upon the vulnerable spots in war management. It would mean that all restraint would be removed from Administration officials; that the President, with impunity, could coddle the city bosses and radical labor leaders who form the basis of the fourth-term movement. It would make it impossible adequately to acquaint the country with the opposing candidates or get to the people the opposition arguments.

IT WOULD MAKE all publicity favorable publicity for Mr. Roosevelt. It would give him a monopoly of the channels of communication, remove from him all restrictions, permit the four-term strategists to operate without protest or disclosure, which, so far as they are concerned, would be the ideal situation. In other words, the proposal to adjourn politics is, itself, transparently political, well designed to give the White House incumbent overwhelming advantages in his effort to continue as President another term. It is not in the interests of the war—quite the reverse. It is in the interests of the Roosevelt campaign, and no matter how patriotically couched, the American people would be foolish in the extreme if they did not see through it.

Bucks County Playhouse Ends Season Next Week

Glenda Farrell, of stage and screen note, will be the guest star at the Bucks County Playhouse, Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Philadelphia, in S. N. Behrman's comedy, "Brief Moment," for the final week of the season, starting Monday evening, August 30th. The 1942 summer season has been the best in the history of this popular Playhouse, which has made a national reputation for "straw-hat" companies, since it was first organized at New Hope.

Born in Enid, Okla., Miss Farrell made her first stage appearance at the age of seven as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Since that she has starred in many Broadway successes and has a long list of movies to her credit, her more recent screen roles were in "City Without Men" and "A Night For Crime."

"Brief Moment" is the story of the marriage of a night club singer to an introspective son of wealth—a girl "wholly uncivilized" as a twice-divorced friend of the rich youth describes her. It covers approximately 19 months, from the day she decides she'll accept his proposal through a period of a year and a half, in which she develops into an avid celebrity-hunter, and he's discovering what seems to be incompatibility, and then into a three-week siege of separation. In that time he decides he'll rid himself of his money and go to Venezuela for something, but they meet again and are irresistible to each other. The Behrman lines are caustic, witty and ironic.

O Lord our God, help us to find our chief delight in work, wherein we join our hands, our hearts, and our brains to Thy power, Thy laws, Thy love. May we choose that task which most taxes our highest powers, and best serves the world's deepest need. May we do it with such joy, such skill, such thoroughness, that it may have about it the strength of the stars. Thus may we become not mountains and the beauty of the mere creatures, but creators; not only one of Thy works, but Thy co-workers. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

The daughter, Mascha (Anna Lee), sensing Svoboda's connection with the execution of Heydrich, allows him to enter.

Voltz-Texaco Wins 4 to 1 Victory Over The Diamond Nine

RALLY CHASES HIRST

Fast Double Play Prevents Voltzmen From Scoring More Runs

BRISTOL SUBURBAN LEAGUE
Schedule for Tonight
ROHM & HAAS - VOLTZ-TEXACO
(Maple Beach field)

A playoff game to decide the second half championship of the Bristol Suburban League will be played this evening on the Maple Beach field. Game will begin at 6:30 sharp.

The playoff is necessary because the Voltz-Texaco nine scored a 4-1 victory over the Diamond team last evening to deadlock Rohm & Haas for the second half crown.

Three runs in the third frame after Diamond had deadlocked the score gave the gasoilers the triumph. The rally drove Dick Hirst from the mound and he was replaced by "Mike" DeRisi who finished in fine style. A fast double-play prevented the Voltz-men from scoring more runs in the disastrous inning.

A. Grimes was the first batter to face Hirst in the third and he drew a pass. Bartholomew laid down a bunt along the third base line and beat it out for a hit. Black bunted down the third base line and also beat out the ball. Cooper hit to Doster whose throw to the plate was too late to get A. Grimes. Bragg singled to left scoring Bartholomew. Schumacher hit to Hirst whose throw to Weiser got Black at the plate. Weiser doubled Schumacher with a rifle throw to DeRisi. On a passed ball, Cooper crossed the plate. Ludwig walked and DeRisi replaced Hirst. Krames grounded out.

The Voltz boys had taken a 1-0 lead in the second when Cooper dropped a double in left field and scored on a hit by Schumacher.

A single by Walt Foerst, a sacrifice by Falkenberg, and Pappaterra's hit to left field gave the Diamond team its only marker of the game.

Bragg, the winning pitcher, was nipped for 5 hits, the same number that Voltz got off Hirst. DeRisi, the pinchpitcher, did not allow a hit.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELBERSON

Biggest largemouth bass yet entered in the fishing contest sponsored by the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association for its members was entered last week by George Eiling, 111 Filmore street. The fish, which was caught in the Canal in Grundy's Park, weighed two pounds and 10 ounces.

Pennsylvania's migratory bird hunting season opens this year on September 1st with rails, gallinules and soras furnishing the legal shooting along the marshes until November 30th. Coots may be hunted from September 25th to December 3rd. The daily bag limit for rails and gallinules is 15 of the combined kinds, and that for soras and coots 25 of the two species.

The season on ducks, geese and brant opens September 25th and closes December 3rd, with a daily limit of 10 for wild ducks of which only three may be redheads or three buffleheads or three of these species combined, and one wood duck, with a daily limit of two on geese and brant.

The woodcock season will open October 1st and close October 15th. The possession limit for ducks, geese, brant and woodcocks is twice the daily bag, except on opening day, but only one wood duck may be possessed at any time. For other species, the possession limit is the daily bag only.

Shooting hours for all migratory game birds are from one-half hours before sunrise until sunset, from the beginning of the open seasons until October 27th, inclusive. On October 30th shooting will not be permitted before 9 A. M. when the small game season opens in Pennsylvania, and ends at 6 P. M. to coincide with State regulations. From November 1st until the end of the seasons, hunting will be permitted from 8 A. M. until 6 P. M., unless sunset occurs earlier, when Federal sunset regulations automatically apply. The only place the Federal one-half hour before sunrise to sunset regulation applies throughout the waterfowl season is on the open waters of Lake Erie, but on October 30th shooting there before 9 A. M. is unlawful.

With the opening of the dog training season in the Commonwealth last Friday owners of bird dogs, rabbit hounds and coon hounds can now take their dogs afield to get them in shape for the fall hunting season. Sunday training, according to the Pennsylvania Game Laws, is unlawful unless the consent of the owner of the land where such training is being done is first secured. No such consent is necessary, however, in the case of State forest lands.

To place a fishing kit in the hands of every serviceman overseas who wants to go fishing during time off from active duty is the aim of the International Game Fish Association which is making an appeal for funds for the non-profit manufacture of a pocket-sized kit especially designed for this purpose. The drive is being conducted by the Tackle Committee of the Association with headquarters in New York City. The American Red Cross has assumed complete distribution of the kits overseas where they will be kept available for use by rotating troops.

"Millions of our boys are stationed in places where recreational opportunities are limited. And yet, fishing is available in almost every region in which our boys have been sent," said Michael Lerner, chairman of the Tackle Committee.

"In this global war our boys find themselves on the world's finest fishing ranges—oceans, lakes, rivers—so keen is their desire to fish during periods of leave from bullets, bombs and barrages they are trying to make fishing hooks out of discarded wire, scraps of metal and even safety pins in order to get a crack at local fishing. We want to make tackle available to them but we need help," Lerner said.

A complete and practical fishing kit has been designed by a group of foremost anglers which is suitable for both salt and fresh water fishing. The kit consists of two types of lines, assorted hooks, leaders, sinkers, feather, spear, a compact net to obtain bait and printed instructions for their use. The whole thing is encased in a sturdy bag with draw strings and can be carried in the pocket.

Each kit costs only $2.00 to manufacture and every dollar contributed will be spent for fishing kits only. Checks should be made payable to Michael Lerner, Chairman, and mailed to the International Game Fish Association at the American Museum of Natural History, Central Park West at 79th Street, New York, N. Y.

In a special announcement today Ross L. Leffler, President of the Pennsylvania Game Commission, said that the completion of the hunting license distribution would be about a month later than planned this year, due mainly to priority war printing contracts over which the Commonwealth has no control. The licenses and tags, which are usually in the hands of the County Treasurers and other issuing agents before September 1 (the old license expires August 31), will probably not be available to all license purchasers until about September 27.

After conferring with the Department of Revenue, the Commission decided to honor the 1942 license until the end of September in order that nimrods who desire to hunt rails, gallinules, coots, ducks and geese, the seasons for which all begin in September, may not be penalized by the Commonwealth's inability to obtain deliveries as anticipated.

Allied Aerial Drubbing of Italy Pursued; No Let-Up

ers follow the plan of "First come, first served!"

There are no longer "butter lines," but there is scarcely a customer entering any store but who puts the question: "Any butter today?"

Butter is 22 cents plus 10 red points per pound. But the cost in either cents or points is not the problem. Many people would gladly spend more money and more points—if they could only get butter.

Others are taking it philosophically, feeling that if more is going to the men in the camps and on the fighting fronts, and to the undernourished abroad—all well and good.

But the average American attitude remains—"What's a slice of toast minus butter?"

HULMEVILLE

A large number of adults and children participated in the annual picnic of Grace Episcopal Church School, held at Hulmeville Park on Wednesday. The contests and games were directed by the vicar, the Rev. Albert W. Eastburn, and Harry Macauley, with fine prizes given. Basket lunches were partaken of, and the Church School provided milk and ice cream. Free swimming facilities were arranged by Church School officials.

heat and humidity this summer. "Of our record for the year I am most proud," said Mrs. White, in speaking of the 11,549 dressings made. Our register reads 55 volunteer workers, and the total amount of hours 3,861. Let us make our second year twice as fruitful as our first, for there will be need of many more bandages before victory is achieved."

Mrs. White lauded Mrs. Robert Scott, Sr. for her perfect record of attendance and total of 220 hours' service. A birthday cake with one lighted candle was then brought in, and with due ceremony cut and served with ice cream.

Others present were: Mrs. Ger-

Christmas Gifts Should Be Mailed To Men Overseas Between Sept. 15-Oct. 15

who thinks he has been forgotten at Christmas obviously is not at his best. So the gifts must be mailed on time so that they can arrive on time.

Rules for Christmas mailings to the fighting forces overseas include: The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25th. Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

The parcel must be well and strongly packed, in a container of metal, wood, strong fiber board, or similar material, then wrapped in strong paper and tied with twine. The cover should be such that it can be opened readily for censorship. The contents should be packed tightly.

Perishable goods, such as fruits that may spoil, are prohibited. Inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Since the armed forces are being plentifully supplied with food and clothing, the army and navy recommend against these as gifts.

Addresses must be written clearly and completely. In addition to the return address of the sender, a parcel for an army man should show the name, rank, army serial number, branch of service, organization, army post office number, and name of post office through which the parcel is routed.

Funds Available To Lift Mortgage

entirely free of debt, owing largely to a legacy which had been left by the late Susan B. Allibone for a church to be built somewhere in Bucks County. The next year a rectory was built. At that time the only indebtedness was the mortgage on the rectory.

When Mr. Newton took charge 20 years later, he found that there was still a mortgage on the rectory amounting to $2,500, a note in the bank amounting to $950, a sheaf of unpaid bills amounting to almost $2,000, and the buildings had been neglected for so many years that it required $2,500 to put them in repair.

The stones which were left over after the community house was built were dumped on the church grounds. These soon became covered with poison ivy and wild cherry trees, giving the grounds a poor appearance.

After 10 years of uphill struggle, Mr. Newton reports the last dollar of indebtedness has now been paid off, that the buildings have been put in a first-class state of repair, that the grounds have been cleaned up and laid out in large flower beds, which give a succession of blooms from early Spring until late Autumn.

Following are the names of the present vestry: Warden, E. L. Caum; secretary, Ernest Mayer; treasurer, Raymond E. Margerum; vestrymen, George Willard, W. A. McAuley, Russell Taylor and J. Damico.
